

Artificial Intelligence and Learning: an Evolving Relationship

13 November 2013 - University of Bari, Italy

Centro Polifunzionale per studenti (Ex Palazzo delle poste)

Università degli Studi di Bari - Piazza Cesare Battisti

SALA I

Programme

14.30-15.00	Registration
15.00-15.30	Introduction to the I-TUTOR project, aims, beliefs, hypothesis and implementation	Pier Giuseppe Rossi, University of Macerata, Italy
15.30-16.00	The I-TUTOR plugin	Roberto Pirrone, University of Palermo, Italy
16.00-16.30	Break and networking	At Frulez, Piazza Umberto I, 14
16.30 – 18.30	Talking AIED – sharing experiences and practices
16.30	Learning environments and digital citizenship	Fernando Sarracino, University Suor Orsola Benincasa, Naples, Italy
16.50	The design, development and implementation of a mentoring online environment for a university	Patricia Rosas Chávez, UDG1, Efrén de la Mora Velasco, UDG, Wendy Díaz Pérez, UDG, Marco Tulio Daza Ramírez, UDG, México
17.10	An adaptive conversation-based learning approach	Giuseppina Rita Mangione, Sergio Miranda, Francesco Orcioli, Pierluigi Ritrovato, DIEM, University of Salerno, Italy
17.30	Clustering and chatbots in learning tools	Karsten Oster Lundqvist, University of Reading, United Kingdom
17.50	Educational design and neural networks	Pier Giuseppe Rossi, University of Macerata, Italy
18.10	I-TUTOR Maps: exploring the theoretical background	Roberto Pirrone, University of Palermo, Italy
18.30-19.00	Conclusions	Dénes Zarka, Budapest University of Technology and Economics, Hungary

This event is funded with support from the European Commission, under the Lifelong Learning Programme.